Occupying the first line in Ushakov, the settlement, located in one of the most picturesque districts of Moscow (in 2003 it was ranked first among all districts), is a significant artist community, where the famous Moscow painter and sculptor Ilya Kabakov has lived since 1958. Not far from the village is a natural swimming pool, with a diameter of 28 yards. The art villages, endowed with cafes and a cultural centre, are located about 20 kilometres north of the Moscow Forest. Gorny, which is nearby and is the mother village of Kabakov's hometown, hosts some prominent sports events: the Gorny Stadium was the main residence of FC Terek Grozny, one of the first Russian multi-national football clubs. Beside the stadium, there are numerous cafes, historic towns like Sheloga and Urus and numerous private businesses run by the local community. In the outskirts of Naberezhnye Chelny lives the small village of Gorny, a small village long famous in Moscow for its local inhabitants and the guitar music of their children, who were famous in the former USSR for their talents. This is where Ivan Kabakov (1941-2016) was raised and later lived since 1958 together with his wife Elena (née Serdyuk), his sister Lidiya (née Kabakova) and his brother Dimitri. Thanks to his work and contribution in Moscow he is renowned for creating Kabakov's paintings, many postcards of the Moscow Art colonies and for co-authoring some books, popularizing the works of other Russian artists and being a member of the Moscow Art Association, active until 2005. Ivan Kabakov is still alive in the villages of Ushakov, Kabakov, Sheloga and Naberezhnye Chelny and was recently a candidate for candidacy for the post of director of the Moscow Art Institution. After his death, Elena Kabakov still resides in the village of Kabakov, which hosts a small "Institute of Ivan Kabakov" working from his art and literature. In the 1970s a severe flood destroyed many parts of the village and the city remained idle.

In its simplest form, the human battle game pits man against man. But in "Tactical Chronicle" you play a game of strategy. Man has no natural advantage over man, and even the mighty are no match for a woman or a child armed with a sword. You take on the role of one of the most powerful forces in the realm. You begin with a small village, but as your expansion continues your reach will grow. Lead it to glory or watch it destroy everything in its path. Build your army out of dozens of different classes. Each class has its own attributes and fighting style. Together, you will be able to inflict incredible damage against your enemies. Select your champion, specialise his options, equip him with armour and weapons, and let him fight. The decisions you make in the course of the battle will determine the battle's outcome and your character's fate. Play as one of the many available human characters and your own path through history will be unique. About This Game: In its simplest form, the human battle game pits man against man. It's been out for a while (and been a big thing on Steam for a while now), but clearly it has taken a serious foothold in the RPG community. Full text is below!
